2007 ACJ

Winemaker's Notes

This rarely released wine is named in honour of our founder, Alexander Campbell Johnston, who over 118 years ago planted his first small vine cutting in rich red soil near the town of McLaren Vale.

Only produced if the varietal parcels display outstanding characters, the 2007 ACJ is only our second release and restricted to 500 dozen. The wine is a blend of 61% Shiraz from the Warhorse vineyard, 24% Petit Verdot selected from Siberia block and 15% Cabernet Sauvignon from Keith's Block.

The bouquet displays briary black cherry, roasted coffee bean, violets plus subtle cedar and musk. On the palate intense black plum, mulberry and spice are complemented by hints of mocha and black olive. All enveloped in quality French oak and beautifully integrated fine grain tannins. Decant to drink now or will age gracefully for many years.
